BUCKET LIST

A little while ago I watched the film "Bucket List", starring Jack Nicholson and Morgan Freeman. It's hilarious - and very touching. Two men share a hospital room and decide to make a list of things they want to do before they "kick the bucket ". I wonder what would be on our lists. Learning an instrument? The holiday of a life time? Skinny dipping? Perhaps finding out for ourselves the significance of Jesus Christ?

Many years ago I went to a concert given by Roy Castle OBE (singer, comedian, jazz trumpeter, TV presenter - remember "Record breakers"?) I think it was his last public performance before he died from lung cancer, aged 62 (Roy was a non-smoker - it was passive smoking while playing in night clubs. His widow Fiona was awarded the OBE for her work for the Roy Castle Lung Cancer Foundation). In his autobiography, Roy wrote, "What do you want out of life? What is success? The answers are much clearer once you are told life is just about over. The simple caring things then score heavily..."

Most people would like to be remembered for more than their career achievements, wealth or popularity. We would like to feel we'd made the world - or perhaps someone's life - a wee bit better. As well as personal goals and wishes, there may be someone we keep meaning to contact, or a half - forgotten quarrel we'd like to put right. (As I write today, Prince Charles, whose great uncle was murdered by the IRA, is meeting Gerry Adams, in the Republic of Ireland.)

Then some of us may be at a stage in life where we have more money than we used to have. I was amazed to learn that £5 will buy a cow to provide milk for a family in Africa (Christian Aid poster). Just £95 will restore the sight to a child through cataract surgery (cbm - the overseas disability charity. www.cbmun.org.uk)

To be honest I put off watching "Bucket List" because I thought it would be depressing. It's inspirational! Bucket lists are a good idea. Worth starting now.

Have a good summer.
